1. Policy on a Page

- 1.1 This policy outlines the arrangements in place to support staff in requesting flexible working arrangements.
- 1.2 The Trust is committed to developing positive flexible working arrangements which allow people to balance work responsibilities with other aspects of their lives (National Terms and Conditions 34.1).
- 1.3 Not only does flexible working open up opportunities for parents and people with caring responsibilities but it may be relevant to many people in the workforce at various stages in their working life. Employees may prefer different working patterns for reasons such as further education, voluntary work or other interests outside the workplace.
- 1.4 The policy does not provide an automatic right for employees to work flexibly but will ensure that reasonable consideration is given to any request.
- 1.5 This policy applies to all staff who are directly employed by the Trust, whether full time or part time, permanent or temporary.
- 1.6 The Trust has developed a range of working arrangements which may enable staff to work more flexibly, whilst maintaining service provision. Appendix B gives employees an idea of the range of options available but it is not exhaustive:
- Annual Hours
  - Compressed/Condensed Hours (Long Shifts)
  - Employment Breaks (Career Breaks or Sabbaticals)
  - Flexi-time
  - Flexible Retirement
  - Home (Remote) Working
  - Job-share
  - Part-time Working
  - Phased return to work
  - Shift Working
  - Staggered hours
  - Team-based / Employee based self-rostering
  - Term-time Working
  - Time off in lieu of banked hours
  - V-time working
  - Variable Working Patterns
- 1.7 See the policy process as set out in appendix A.
- 1.8 To apply for flexible working staff should use the form in appendix C

2. Introduction

- 2.1 The Trust is committed to providing members of staff with access to flexible working arrangements, which support them in balancing work responsibilities with personal commitments. This policy is one of a series of policies that make up the Trust's approach to help staff balance work and home life.
- 2.2 The Trust recognises the importance of domestic or out-of-work commitments and acknowledges that, at certain times in an employee's working life, circumstances may arise where it is appropriate to adopt flexible working arrangements. This policy sets out the arrangements within the Trust to enable all employees to request flexible working arrangements to balance their working life with non-work related commitments. It does not provide an automatic right for employees to work flexibly but will ensure that reasonable consideration is given to any request.
- 2.3 A flowchart detailing an overview of the process can be found in appendix A. Further information is available from the Human Resources Department.

3. Scope

- 3.1 This policy applies to all staff who are directly employed by the Trust, whether full time or part-time, permanent or temporary including those working via the Temporary Staffing Department.
- 3.2 While it is the Trust policy to consider Flexible Working requests for all eligible employees, there may be situations where precedence is given to those who have a statutory right to request flexible working, in order to ensure that the organisation complies with its legal obligations.
- 3.3 The Trust is required to consider flexible working options as part of their duty to make reasonable adjustments for disabled staff, staff with dependants, job applicants under the Equality Act and staff who are returning from maternity leave.
- 3.4 The policy does not apply to individuals employed by agencies or other contractors.
- 3.5 In implementing this policy, managers must ensure that all staff are treated fairly and within the provisions and spirit of the Trust's Equality and Diversity Policy (W30). Special attention should be paid to ensuring the policy is understood when using it for staff new to the NHS or Trust, by staff whose literacy or use of English is weak or for persons with little experience of working life.
- 3.6 Managers must respect the confidentiality of the employee at all times and not disclose any personal information to a third party, with the exception of where advice is being sought from their line manager, the HR Department or the Occupational Health Department.

4. Flexible Working Arrangements

- 4.1 The Trust has developed a range of working arrangements which may enable staff to work more flexibly, whilst maintaining service provision. These are explained in more detail in Appendix B. A list is given below, however, it is not exhaustive and is provided as a guide only:
- Annual/annualised Hours
  - Compressed/Condensed Hours (Long Shifts)
  - Employment Breaks (Career Breaks or Sabbaticals)
  - Flexi-time

- Flexible Retirement
- Home (Remote) Working
- Job-share
- Part-time Working
- Phased return to work
- Shift Working
- Staggered hours
- Team-based / Employee based self-rostering
- Term-time Working
- Time off in lieu of banked hours
- V-time working
- Variable Working Patterns

4.2 Wherever possible, requests for flexible working patterns will be accommodated. However in some circumstances a manager may be unable to accept the flexible working pattern or accommodate a suitable alternative. In such circumstances, the manager must arrange to meet with the individual to discuss the request.

5. Eligibility

5.1 Flexible working arrangements may be requested by all employees from day one of their employment. There is no limit on the number of flexible working requests that can be made.

6. Responsibilities of Employees

6.1 Employees are encouraged to have informal conversations with their line manager about flexible working at any time, including through regular one-to-ones and health and wellbeing conversations.

6.2 A written application should be submitted using Appendix C and wherever possible, a minimum of three months notice should be given before the proposed date of the change. Employees are encouraged to submit supporting information about reasons/service impacts for their request on an optional basis. There may be occasions where the request is urgent and 3 months' notice is not possible.

6.3 In making a request, the employee must give due consideration to the impact any such arrangements may have on their work, their colleagues and the service and be prepared to offer potential solutions to any problems that may be encountered. Your line manager should support you to work through these issues.

6.4 Employees must discuss their request with their manager with the aim of reaching a mutually acceptable arrangement. Employees may be asked to offer alternatives or to compromise on their request. Whilst every effort will be made by managers to accommodate requests, there may be occasions when this is not possible.

6.5 Employees have the right to withdraw an application for flexible working provided permanent arrangements have not been put into place to accommodate their request (e.g. additional hours have been offered and accepted by another employee). Employees are encouraged to discuss any potential changes to their request with their manager at the earliest opportunity.

6.6 Employees must ensure that they have fully understood the procedure for requesting flexible working arrangements before submitting their application form. Further advice is available from the line manager, the Human Resources Department or the Trade Union or Professional Organisation Representative.

7. Responsibilities of Managers

- 7.1 Managers at all levels enable their staff, including doctors, to work in ways that meet their personal needs, and the needs of the service, at different times of their careers and structures are in place to support flexible working practices.
- 7.2 Managers are encouraged to hold regular discussions about flexible working through staff induction, one-to-one meetings, team meetings, health and wellbeing conversations and appraisals.
- 7.3 Managers are required to consider flexible working options for all staff in the workplace, from day one of employment, for example:
- disabled staff and staff with health conditions
  - staff returning to work following maternity/paternity leave, parental leave, adoption leave or shared parental leave
  - staff in need of temporary changes to their employment arrangements following a domestic crisis, bereavement or sickness absence.
- 7.4 Managers must openly consider requests for flexible working arrangements, taking into account:
- the legal requirement to reasonably consider the request, where relevant
  - the nature and urgency of the request
  - the cost of the proposed arrangement
  - the effect of the proposed arrangement on other staff
  - the impact of the request on the current needs of the service
  - the impact of the request on the responsibilities of the post including supervision requirements, department structure, staff resources, workload of role
  - implications for lone working (for individual or other colleagues)
  - the impact of any potential solutions proposed by the member of staff
- the length of time for which flexibility is required (temporary or permanent)

8. Stages of Application Process

8.1 Exploratory stage

On receipt of a written request, managers must arrange to meet the employee as soon as possible (and within 2 weeks) to discuss the request (where appropriate this discussion can take place by telephone). This is an opportunity for both the manager and the employee to openly explore the proposed working pattern in depth and explore how it might be accommodated. The manager should also agree with the individual whether and how any proposals are discussed with other team members. If the manager is able to approve the request without further discussion, a further meeting may not be required. A flexible working request cannot be declined at this stage and should be referred on to the escalation stage. The individual can be accompanied at the meeting/discussion by their Trade Union/Professional organisation representative or by a colleague employed by the Trust at any stage if they wish. Where the person is to be accompanied it is the individual's responsibility to arrange this for the required time.

8.2 Escalation stage

If the flexible working request cannot be agreed at the exploratory stage, a meeting at the escalation stage can be used to check for other possible solutions. This could include managers seeking a second opinion to verify a decision or exploring whether the flexible working request could be accommodated in a different team, location or role.

Managers should communicate all viable options with the employee and if necessary, agree a reasonable extension to timescales where this would allow a more thorough investigation of alternative options.

A member of the HR team must be consulted at this stage, to provide advice and support to all parties. The individual can be accompanied (see above).

8.3 Decision stage – flexible working change agreed

Managers must confirm the outcome in writing as soon as possible (Using Section C of Appendix C) outlining the new working arrangement including a change in hours, work pattern, location, role and/or team (this may include an alternative pattern that has been discussed), whether it is a permanent arrangement or the duration of a temporary arrangement, trial periods agreed and review dates.

Where a change is agreed an ESR Change of Circumstances form must be completed by the manager and submitted to the ESR Team to notify of any changes which will impact on the individual's pay.

8.4 Decision stage – flexible working change declined

Managers may reject an application where the desired working practices cannot be accommodated within the needs of the service. When a request is received, the manager must consider the needs of the service at that particular point in time. It is not acceptable to turn down a request on the basis that others might then request similar working arrangements. Equally, there may be sound and defensible reasons for refusing a request even though there are already flexible arrangements in place within the department for other staff members. All job roles should be considered for flexible working; if this is not possible the manager must provide written, objectively justifiable reasons for this and give a clear, demonstrable operational reason why this is not practicable along with an account of alternatives considered. Managers should ensure an equality check that identifies whether the individual has any protected characteristics under the Equality Act that are relevant to their flexible working request. Where a request is refused the manager must copy the completed application form to the HR Department.

Requests must be considered within a relevant timeframe (i.e. relevant to the request made and recognising that some requests need urgent attention). All requests will be considered within 3 months unless you agree to extend this period with the employee. If a meeting is arranged and an employee fails to attend this and a rearranged meeting, without good reason, the request will be considered as withdrawn. Some requests may be progressed without a meeting where this is appropriate however the Flexible Working Application form must be submitted and completed by the manager.

When considering advertising vacancies, managers should give consideration as to whether it is possible to accommodate flexible working arrangements.

Managers must ensure that no employee suffers any detriment or discrimination as a result of making a request for, or undertaking flexible working arrangements, and must ensure fairness and consistency in approach.

9. Reviewing Flexible Working Arrangements

- 9.1 The manager and the employee will jointly agree working arrangements based on the individual circumstances and service needs; a timescale for review will be agreed. Where temporary changes have been agreed, timescales and review periods must be stated at the time flexible working arrangements are implemented and confirmed in writing by the Manager.

Arrangements should be reviewed regularly to ensure that they are working satisfactorily and that any issues are raised and resolved as soon as possible.

- 9.2 Where the impact of the arrangements is unclear, a trial period can be utilised. Arrangements for this period should be set out in writing.
- 9.3 Any subsequent changes made should be subject to full consultation between the manager and employee and implemented from an agreed date. Where the review determines that it is not possible to continue the flexible working arrangements the employee will commence the standard working hours for the department from an agreed date.
- 9.4 If the department undergoes service changes that impact upon working arrangements existing flexible arrangements may be reviewed at that time.

10. Conditions of Service

- 10.1 Where a change to working arrangements is agreed the manager should confirm in writing the changes to the individuals terms and conditions, where necessary re-issuing the Statement of Main Terms and Conditions of Employment.
- 10.2 An employee reducing their hours of work or changing their work pattern should normally maintain their existing conditions of service. However, in exceptional circumstances, where the employee and manager have agreed changes to the job role or the job location the employee's conditions of service will need to be adjusted accordingly.
- 10.3 If the request for a flexible working pattern results in a reduction in hours, pay and annual leave entitlement will be reduced on a pro-rata basis.

11. Appeals Procedure

- 11.1 The Trust procedure includes the right to request a further meeting where a request for flexible working has been refused.
- 11.2 To request this meeting, the employee must write to the HR support from the escalation and decision stage. The HR support will then identify a suitable independent manager within the Trust to consider the appeal.
- 11.3 The employee must send their appeal within 14 days of receipt of the decision (confirmed on section C of Appendix C), clearly setting out the reasons why they consider the decision to be unfair.
- 11.4 Where there are justifiable reasons for doing so, an individual may request that an alternative manager be appointed to hear the appeal. Such a request must be made in writing, giving detailed reasons, to the HR representative supporting the matter as early as possible. Such a request will be considered and may or may not be accommodated. Where such a request is refused, the individual will be informed of the reasons.
- 11.5 A meeting will be arranged as soon as possible to discuss why the employee considers the decision to be unfair. Those hearing the appeal should review the evidence on other options considered and all relevant background information. This evidence should be provided ahead of the appeals meeting. The employee may be accompanied by a Trade Union/Professional organisation representative or by a colleague employed by the Trust. The outcome of this meeting will be confirmed in writing normally within 7 calendar days of the meeting. Outcomes could include upholding the decision, agreeing the requested arrangements or implementing alternative arrangements.

12. Training

12.1 Management training required to fulfil this policy will be provided in accordance with the Trust's Training Needs Analysis. Management and monitoring of training will be in accordance with the Trust's Development and Training Policy.

12.2 This information can be accessed via the Learning Zone pages on the Trust intranet.

13. Review Process and Equality Impact Assessment (EQIA)

13.1 The Trust will review this policy when there are changes to relevant legislation or good practice, or within the normal policy review cycle.

13.2 This policy applies to all employees, however where a legal obligation exists precedence will be given to considering this request in order to ensure the organisation complies with its legal obligations.

14. Process for Monitoring Compliance

Appendix B Flexible Working Practices (incorporating the NHS Employers A-Z of Flexible Working)

Annual Hours

Employees who are contracted to work a number of hours over the whole year rather than monthly or weekly. Employees are paid exactly the same each month but are expected to respond to peaks and troughs in work load by increasing or decreasing the hours worked when appropriate. A large number of the hours may be allocated to set shifts leaving the remaining hours to be worked at short notice or as agreed with the employee as demand dictates. Such a scheme is also used for allowing employees greater personal flexibility, although the needs of the organisation must always be considered.

Example:-

An employee is contracted (paid) 25 hours per week but works their hours over 40 weeks. They have 5 years' service for the purposes of annual leave and take all their annual leave in their 12 non-working weeks.

$25\text{hours} \times 52.14 \text{ (weeks per year)} = 1303.5 \text{ hours per year (before annual leave and bank holidays)}$

$\text{Annual leave} = 29 \times 7.5 = 217.5 / 37.5 \times 25 = 145 \text{ hours leave per year}$

$\text{Public Holidays} = 8 \times 7.5 = 60 / 37.5 \times 25 = 40 \text{ hours per year (figure to be recalculated yearly)}$

$\text{Total hours to be worked} = 1303.5 - 145 - 40 = 1118.5$

$\text{Weekly hours working over 40 weeks} = 1118.5 / 40 = 27.96 \text{ hours per week}$

39 weeks at 28 hours per week (1092 hours)

1 week at 26.5 hours

Compressed/Condensed Hours (Long Shifts)

Allows employees to work their total number of agreed hours over fewer working days. For example a five day working week compressed into four days or a nine day fortnight (ten working days compressed into nine).

Employment Breaks (Career Breaks or Sabbaticals)

An employment break is a period of unpaid time out from the workplace. See Leave Policy Chapter 3 – Employment Breaks.

Flexi-time

Allows employees to choose, within agreed limits, when to begin work and end work, and may be planned to enable individuals to attend to domestic or other responsibilities. Employees may be required to work during some essential periods (known as core times) and must work an agreed number of hours within an 'accounting period' which is typically four weeks. Outside core times are flexible bands when employees may choose whether to be at work or not. This enables employees to vary their start, finish and lunch times. Usually, within agreed limits, employees can carry over any excess or deficit in the number of hours they are required to work to the next accounting period.

Flexible Retirement

An alternative to simply stopping work, to assist in preparing for retirement. See Trust Retirement Policy.

Home (Remote) Working

Employees who work from home on a regular basis (to meet their contractual obligations) for reasons of self development or work related purposes; this can be on a temporary, occasional, programmed or (in exceptional circumstances) permanent basis.

Job-share

A situation where two or more people share one full-time job, dividing the pay, holidays and other benefits in proportion to the number of hours they work. There is no set model for managing time, which may involve working a set number of hours each day, each week or alternate weeks.

Part-time Working

Employees working less than the designated full-time hours within any particular grade or position. There is no set pattern to part-time working. It may involve a later start and earlier finish time than a full-time position, working mornings or afternoons only, fewer working days in the week or any other arrangement of working time whereby the employee is contracted to work less than normal basic full-time hours.

Phased return to work

Used after a period of extended leave such as maternity leave, employment break or after serious or prolonged illness. Normal hours of working are reduced initially on a temporary basis (usually for a period of up to 6 months) before returning to normal hours of work.

For more information regarding return to work following sickness absence see the relevant Trust policy. In other circumstances employees may use accrued annual leave to work part time or temporarily change their contracted hours for an agreed period subject to service need.

Shift Working

Employees working shift patterns either on a regular or rotation basis. This is the pattern of work in which one employee replaces another on the same job within a 24 hour period. Shift systems typically operate over morning, afternoon, long and/or night shift periods and may provide continuous cover 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Additional variations of this are:

- Shift swapping - enables employees to negotiate their working times by re-arranging shifts among themselves with the proviso that the required shifts are covered.
- Self-rostering - allows employees to nominate the shifts they would like to work, leaving employers to compile shift patterns that match the preferences of individual staff to agreed staffing levels.
- Requesting Days off – enables employees to request a set number of days off during a roster period which subject to service need can be authorised by their roster organiser.

Staggered hours

Allows normal working hours to be varied to suit an individual's needs whilst working full contracted hours. Working may be staggered on a permanent or temporary basis throughout the week; or just on one or two days of the week. Can be a very effective way of covering longer opening hours i.e. allowing members of staff to have different start/lunch/and finishing times.

Team-based / Employee based self-rostering

Employees who manage their own working hours within a team or individually, usually within set boundaries and in compliance with departmental/team needs. (See also Flexi-time and Shift Working)

Term-time Working

Enables an employee to remain on a permanent contract but also to take paid or unpaid leave during school holidays.

Variations include:-

- Employees work for the 39 weeks of the school year. Annual holiday is pro-rated and is deemed to be taken during the 13-week non working period; salary is adjusted accordingly and paid equally over 12 months.

Example:-

An employee is contracted (paid) 25 hours per month but works their hours over 39 weeks. They have 5 years' service for the purposes of annual leave and take all their annual leave in their 13 non-working weeks.

$25\text{hours} \times 52.14 \text{ (weeks per year)} = 1303.5 \text{ hours per year (before annual leave and bank holidays)}$

Annual leave =  $29 \times 7.5 = 217.5/37.5 \times 25 = 145 \text{ hours leave per year}$

Public Holidays =  $8 \times 7.5 = 60/37.5 \times 25 = 40 \text{ hours per year (figure to be recalculated yearly)}$

Total hours to be worked =  $1303.5 - 145 - 40 = 1118.5$

Weekly hours working over 39 weeks =  $1118.5/39 = 28.68 \text{ hours per week}$

38 weeks at 28.5 hours per week (1083 hours)

1 week at 35.5 hours

Or

38 weeks at 29 hours per week (1102 hours)

1 week at 16.5 hours

Time off in lieu of banked hours

This allows employees to take time off to compensate for extra hours worked. Time worked must be agreed in advance. For overtime payment rules see national terms and conditions.

V-time working (Temporary Reduction in Hours)

This is a voluntary arrangement whereby an employee reduces the number of hours worked for an agreed period with a guarantee that contractual hours (full or part time) will be available again at the end of this time. In exceptional circumstances this could include a period of unpaid leave.

Variable Working Patterns

Irregular days off fixed in advance to enable, for example, separate parents to have access to children.

All the above Flexible Working arrangements can be requested using the Flexible Working Request forms and requests will not be unreasonably refused.

Appendix C Application for Flexible Working – W23
