Having a Carbon Breath Test

Endoscopy Department

This leaflet provides information about your Carbon Breath Test. It aims to answer any questions you may have about the procedure and explain what will happen on the day of the procedure.

Introduction

Your Doctor has advised that you should have a test called a Carbon Breath Test

This test will be undertaken at The Royal Shrewsbury Hospital.

This leaflet tells you why you need the investigation, how to prepare for it and what to expect afterwards. If you have any remaining concerns or queries when you have read this leaflet, please telephone:

Endoscopy department, The Royal Shrewsbury Hospital: 01743 261 000 ext. 1064

Monday – Friday 08:30 am – 16:30 pm Saturday 08:30 – 12:30 pm

Please do not bring valuables to the hospital. We cannot accept any responsibility for the loss or damage to personal property during your time on these premises.

Please note this test is only done by specific nurses on certain days.

What is a Carbon Breath Test?

It is a test that is able to test for Helicobacter Pylori. This is a bacteria that grows within the digestive tract.

What should I expect?

When you arrive at the Endoscopy Unit please report to reception and you will then be asked to take a seat in the waiting area.

The Breath Test Nurse will invite you through when ready and will ask you questions about your health, explain about the Breath Test and then proceed with the test. You will have the chance to ask any questions that you may have.

Please bear in mind that there may be a slight delay before you are taken through for your procedure; however a relative or friend is more than welcome to wait with you.

The Carbon Breath Test

The nurse will ask you to breathe into two test tubes to take your baseline reading. You will then be asked to drink two drinks (citric acid and urea). You will then be asked to have a seat in the waiting area for 30 minutes. After the 30 minutes you will breathe into a further two test tubes. You can expect to be in the department up to an hour.

When will I receive the results?

The nurse will package your sample up and send it off to be analysed. The results will be sent back to your referring doctor. Allow up to 6 weeks for your doctor to be in touch after your test.
