John	Jones	Executive Medical Director	Non-financial professional interest	Sponsored events	I will be attending a professional development event sponsored by a private company that supplies endoscopic equipment to the Trust on Tuesday 7th June. It is called "EUS upskilling course" and is located at Addenbrooke's hospital in Cambridge. This will include accommodation the night before. The cost of the course and the accommodation is paid for by the sponsor of the course Olympus. Olympus is a supplier of endoscopic equipment to the Trust.	06/11/2023	07/11/2023	Trust Board members including myself are highly likely to make decisions on business cases that include purchase of endoscopic equipment. Olympus is already the major supplier of endoscopic equipment to the Trust and it is highly likely that any further tendering for endoscopic equipment will include Olympus. Since there is no direct financial benefit either to me attending this course, or in any purchase from Olympus that may happen in the future and the course is clearly targeted at my specific Trust clinical activities identified at appraisal then I do not foresee attendance at the course having any influence on any decision or discussion that I may have in relation to this matter.
